Monthly comment

In April, equity markets recovered sharply after one of the weakest quarters in over a decade in Q1. This recovery was largely driven by large fiscal support programs announced by various governments, monetary stimulus by central banks, and the expectation of partial reopening of a few economies within Europe in May. During this month Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure also grew strongly with the recovery led by the sectors that had been underperforming in the first quarter, notably the airports and the pipelines. Though airports continued to report rather weak passenger data they benefitted from the fact that many have taken actions to increase their liquidity and were further boosted by announcements by various governments to provide state support. While oil prices remained low pipelines in the portfolio recovered as their take-or-pay clauses protect them from these sharp swings.

The best performing company this month was Williams, which has shown a strong recovery driven by the CEO comments that the current low oil price is helping Williams, since it is driving more activity for gas-focused fields where Williams operates, and away from the Permian. The company also expressed confidence in retaining its ability to maintain dividend. This was reassuring for investors who believed that Williams may be forced to cut dividend after yield jumped to nearly 20% last month.

Atlantia was another beneficiary this month after a weak first quarter. The share price rose after it was revealed at Q1 results that the company has made an offer of EUR 2.9bn to the Italian government to settle the Genoa bridge collapse case. It also appears that Italian traffic declines seemed to have stabilised in April, which was another positive factor for the company.

Finally, Malaysia Airports benefited from a series of positive news last month. Air Asia announced plans to resume flights from its airports, the airport operator was exploring options to further increase its liquidity, and lastly there was news that GSV had made an offer to buy a controlling stake in the state carrier, Malaysia Airlines.

Definitions

This monthly report is produced based on information available on the last working day of the month.

Infrastructure

The term 'infrastructure' comprises all durable capital goods which ensure the proper development of an economy. They comprise transportation infrastructure assets such as roads, airports, railways, harbours, tunnels and bridges. However, they also include assets of the communication infrastructure, such as TV and radio transmission systems, antennas and transmission towers for mobile phones, satellite systems and cable networks. Infrastructure also refers to utility assets in the fields of energy and water, such as energy facilities for power generation and distribution, of gas and oil exploration and distribution, as well as other water supply and distribution facilities, including desalination plants and sewage treatment facilities. Finally, infrastructure also includes the provision of services in the fields of education and health, as well as public sector building facilities (social infrastructure).

Listed infrastructure

A 'listed infrastructure' company is listed on a stock exchange and its purpose is investing in infrastructure assets.

Total return

Total return is calculated according the standard BVI-method of the Bundesverband Investment and Asset Management.
