Monthly comment

In August, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure reported a positive return in a month where global equity markets lost in value and hence outperformed the global equity market. Once again, the Fund confirmed its stable characteristics and the decision to position the portfolio more defensively, was rewarded this month. The larger market movements can primarily be explained by the continuing trade concerns between the US and China. Furthermore, the German economy reported weak growth as well as order intakes slowed down. On a portfolio level, the best performing company during the reporting period was American Water ("AWK"). The US water company posted a very strong performance this month, as the company reported impressive H1 results towards the end of last month. Both sales and earnings grew above estimates, as a result of strong demand, and continuing efficiency improvements. Moreover, the sector remains highly fragmented with AWK being in a prime position to be consolidator within the sector. The Hong Kong-based diversified infrastructure operator Cheung Kong Infrastructure ("CKI") contributed negatively to the Fund's performance. One of the main drivers of the negative development were the ongoing protests in Hong Kong, although a majority of earnings were outside Hong Kong and China. On top of that, CKI has material exposure to UK water, where regulated returns are expected to be cut in the future. Finally, Ferrovial performed well as the company reported good H1 2019 results despite weak performance in the construction unit. Additionally, in August the company won an extension road project in Texas for approximately USD 800m.
