Monthly comment

In September, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure decreased in value but performed in line with the global equity markets which remained weak. There were no major events during the month, except the resurgence of Covid-19 in major economies and an increasing focus on the US election. During the reporting period, the regulated utilities, water, and social infrastructure performed better, while the more GDP-sensitive sectors, such as transport unperformed. Against this backdrop, pipelines fell as a result of the expectation for lower energy demand.

National Grid, a UK grid operator, was the best performer in the portfolio, as the news that the Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) increased the regulated return for four private water companies in the UK increased the expectation that power utilities could also expect more favourable decision from OfGem in December 2020.

In contrast, Beijing Airport, the Chinese airport operator, struggled during the month as August passenger numbers remained weak, with a growing risk of a lockdown in Beijing as cases are rising again.

Finally, another positive performer was Transurban. The Australian toll road operator benefited from the fact that restrictions were eased in Melbourne, which contributes to nearly a third of the company's EBITDA. Furthermore, its growth pipeline remains intact with large earnings growth expected over the next 3-4 years as many new projects are put into operation.

Definitions

This monthly report is produced based on information available on the last working day of the month.

Infrastructure

The term 'infrastructure' comprises all durable capital goods which ensure the proper development of an economy. They comprise transportation infrastructure assets such as roads, airports, railways, harbours, tunnels and bridges. However, they also include assets of the communication infrastructure, such as TV and radio transmission systems, antennas and transmission towers for mobile phones, satellite systems and cable networks. Infrastructure also refers to utility assets in the fields of energy and water, such as energy facilities for power generation and distribution, of gas and oil exploration and distribution, as well as other water supply and distribution facilities, including desalination plants and sewage treatment facilities. Finally, infrastructure also includes the provision of services in the fields of education and health, as well as public sector building facilities (social infrastructure).

Listed infrastructure

A 'listed infrastructure' company is listed on a stock exchange and its purpose is investing in infrastructure assets.

Total return

Total return is calculated according the standard BVI-method of the Bundesverband Investment and Asset Management.
