Monthly comment

In October, Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure has continued to increase in value. Especially US operators of telecommunication towers performed well during the reporting period as SoftBank, the Japanese parent company of the US mobile tower operator Sprint, is no longer interested in a merger of the subsidiary Sprint with T-Mobile.

Another positive contributor in the reporting period was Cellnex Telecom, the largest wireless telecommunication tower operator in Europe. The Spanish toll road operator Abertis Infraestructuras, a 34% stakeholder of Cellnex Telecom, received a counterbid from Hochtief AG, challenging the bid made earlier by the Italian company Atlantia. Both potential buyers announced that they will divest Cellnex Telecom in case of an acquisition, which will improve the free float of the Cellnex Telecom shares and make them to a potential acquisition candidate.

Meanwhile, the French satellite operator Eutelsat contributed negatively to the Fund performance. The company reported lower guidance for 2017 due to a delay in the launch of a satellite. However, the delay was driven by external factors and the demand for its services remained strong.

Finally, the Italian gas distributor Italgas was also among the strongest portfolio companies, following the publication of its quarterly results. In the first nine months of 2017, the company posted an increase in revenues and EBITDA by 28% and 20%, respectively. In addition, investments rose by 40% compared to the same period in 2016.

Definitions

This monthly report is produced based on information available on the last working day of the month.

Infrastructure

The term 'infrastructure' comprises all durable capital goods which ensure the proper development of an economy. They comprise transportation infrastructure assets such as roads, airports, railways, harbours, tunnels and bridges. However, they also include assets of the communication infrastructure, such as TV and radio transmission systems, antennas and transmission towers for mobile phones, satellite systems and cable networks. Infrastructure also refers to utility assets in the fields of energy and water, such as energy facilities for power generation and distribution, of gas and oil exploration and distribution, as well as other water supply and distribution facilities, including desalination plants and sewage treatment facilities. Finally, infrastructure also includes the provision of services in the fields of education and health, as well as public sector building facilities (social infrastructure).

Listed infrastructure

A 'listed infrastructure' company is listed on a stock exchange and its purpose is investing in infrastructure assets.

Total return

Total return is calculated according the standard BVI-method of the Bundesverband Investment and Asset Management.
