Monthly comment

Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure continued its positive performance in April. The Fund has seen an outperformance and lower volatility against the broader equity markets since the beginning of the year. During the reporting month, airport operators convinced investors with rising passenger numbers.

The most successful airport operator in April was Beijing Capital International Airport, the second-largest airport in the world with 90 million passengers per year. The company reported a passenger growth of 5.3% in March compared to the same period last year. Beijing Capital also benefited from the announcement by China Eastern Airlines to make the airport its new base.

Fraport, another airport operator, continued to develop positively. The operator of the Frankfurt airport is testing the construction of a new terminal for low-cost carriers. With the planned opening of a new terminal in 2019, the capacity of the airport could increase by up to 12 million passengers.

The share price of Hong Kong-based infrastructure provider Cheung Kong Infrastructure also developed positively. The company received approval from the Australian government for the acquisition of Duet Group. With the takeover of the owner-controlled power plant, listed on the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX), Cheung Kong opens up a leading presence in the Western Australian market.

Definitions

This monthly report is produced based on information available on the last working day of the month.

Infrastructure

The term 'infrastructure' comprises all durable capital goods which ensure the proper development of an economy. They comprise transportation infrastructure assets such as roads, airports, railways, harbours, tunnels and bridges. However, they also include assets of the communication infrastructure, such as TV and radio transmission systems, antennas and transmission towers for mobile phones, satellite systems and cable networks. Infrastructure also refers to utility assets in the fields of energy and water, such as energy facilities for power generation and distribution, of gas and oil exploration and distribution, as well as other water supply and distribution facilities, including desalination plants and sewage treatment facilities. Finally, infrastructure also includes the provision of services in the fields of education and health, as well as public sector building facilities (social infrastructure).

Listed infrastructure

A 'listed infrastructure' company is listed on a stock exchange and its purpose is investing in infrastructure assets.

Total return

Total return is calculated according the standard BVI-method of the Bundesverband Investment and Asset Management.
