Monthly comment

In January, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure continued its strong performance from last year in line with the global equity markets. Supported by the signing of the "Phase 1" trade deal between the US and China, railroads, ports and certain toll roads developed well. However, the performance slightly weakened in the latter half of January with the spread of Coronavirus. Consequently, the Chinese and other Asian equity markets performed negatively, though the equity markets in the developed world recorded a strong performance. Meanwhile, the UK remained one of the strongest contributing regions in the portfolio, as utilities and social infrastructure companies benefitted from rising political certainty after the elections in December last year.

Last year's top performer Cellnex continued to increase in value this month. The Spanish tower company announced a deal to acquire tower assets in Portugal from OMTTEL. In addition, the company raised more debt in 2019 at attractive rates in order to finance its large M&A pipeline.

Elsewhere, Beijing Capital International Airport (BCIA) decreased in value. While airports overall had a weak month mainly driven by the spread of the Coronavirus and with many companies cancelling visits of their employees to China and Hong Kong, BCIA was hit particularly hard as it is mainly exposed to Chinese airlines.

Finally, Italgas, the Italian gas distribution utility has started the year on a strong note as it won a gas service contract, which is servicing a total of 20k end users. The company further announced that it will invest EUR 100m in the service area. Additionally, the relative regulatory stability as compared to its European peers has been especially beneficial for Italgas.
