Monthly comment

In March, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Infrastructure continued to decrease in value, while the global equity markets turned very volatile and reported one of the weakest months in over a decade. As the Coronavirus spread to other European nations and to the US, it led to mass lockdowns, supplementing the restrictions on air travel. The Listed Infrastructure portfolio posted a negative performance, though it remains ahead of the broader equity markets on a YTD basis. Toll roads were amongst the weakest sectors, seeing a decline in traffic of passenger vehicles. During this volatile month, the Fund benefited from its exposure to stable sectors such as social infrastructure, towers and the regulated T&D, which provided support to the performance.

Airports continued to suffer for a second month in a row as passengers declined further. Atlantia was the worst performer, as virus cases in Italy continued to rise and the company was negatively affected by its exposure to the Rome Airports. Fraport and ADP also witnessed significant declines in passengers, and both airport operators proceeded to suspend or cut the dividend this year. While we do not anticipate an immediate recovery, we remain confident that these are essential assets and passengers will return to the pre-crisis levels over the next few years.

At the same time, Sabesp, the Brazilian water company declined in value during the reporting period as Brazilian ministers announced that a potential privatisation of the company will be delayed as current market conditions are weak. Additionally, Sabesp also announced a tariff 'holiday' to provide relief to its customers for a few months, as the country prepared itself to deal with the virus.

A positive performer this month was BBGI, the UK-based social infrastructure operator. It increased in value while most of the portfolio declined, since the company has revenue visibility for as long as 40 years. BBGI benefits from revenues which are based on availability of infrastructure, rather than volume or demand. Additionally, the company posted FY 2019 results, which remained robust.
