Monthly comment

The Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV – Listed Private Equity Fund maintained its positive growth trajectory into the new year, with an upward trend in January following an impressive performance in 2023. The buoyant market atmosphere was backed by a strong 3.3% US GDP growth and elevated consumer confidence. All sectors contributed to the positive result of the Fund in January.

Eurazeo, a French direct investment firm, was the top-performing company within the portfolio this month. After announcing a significant strategic pivot in the previous year, which aimed to actively downsize the balance sheet and return 42% of the market capitalization to shareholders primarily via share buybacks, the positive sentiment persisted. Early in the month, analysts upgraded Eurazeo, increased target prices, and raised dividend projections.

In contrast, Blackstone, a global alternative asset manager with over USD 1 trillion in assets under management, was among the weaker performers. After seeing an 83% surge in 2023, its stock dipped by 5% in January. The company was unable to persuade investors following its Q4 results announcement. While the credit unit sustained its strong performance, the real estate unit produced mixed outcomes. Overall, distributable earnings and fee-related earnings fell compared to Q3. Additionally, the real estate unit's permanent capital vehicle, BREIT, remains a primary concern for investors as its fundraising missed expectations.

Apollo Global Management, a US asset manager, also displayed a robust performance. Expectations for Apollo's annual results were upgraded, and sentiment remained highly positive. Favorable US economic data and the Fed's decision to maintain rates led to investors anticipating higher rates for a more extended period, benefiting debt-focused managers like Apollo. Lastly, the firm is expected to join the S&P 500, a crucial driving factor.
