Monthly comment

Although volatility persisted in October, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV – Listed Private Equity Fund rebounded and recorded a value increase, supported by robust Q3 results. All segments contributed positively with business development companies ("BDCs") and alternative asset managers being the best performing segments. In particular, BDCs benefited from the rise in interest rates, as their portfolios consist largely of floating rate investments.

On a portfolio level, the best performing holding during the month was the alternative asset manager Ares Management. The company benefitted from its focus on credit strategies, which profit from rising interest rates. In addition, Ares Management is building up exposure to real estate and infrastructure, which both benefit from the high inflation. The Q3 earnings report was strong with gross inflows of USD 14 billion, bringing total assets under management to above USD 340 billion. Despite a broader slowdown of transactions, the manager deployed USD 59 billion during the first three quarters, up 45% compared to the same period in the record year 2021.

In contrast, Kinnevik, the Swedish direct investment company performed weakly. After spinning off its core investment, Zalando, the portfolio became younger and focused on disruptive technologies in healthcare, online marketplaces, software and consumer services. The continued negative sentiment on growth companies weighed on the share price of the company. However, the results for the third quarter were solid. Revenue growth of the underlying portfolio holdings continued to outperform its peers. Healthcare and software investments performed best and reported revenue growth of 225% and 175% for the first nine months compared to the previous year. The balance sheet remains healthy with a large net cash position, reflecting more than 20% of the portfolio value, which allows management to support existing holdings as well as opportunistically acquire new companies.

Finally, Brookfield Business Partners ("Brookfield"), a Canadian direct investment company that invests in businesses services and industrial companies, convinced investors. The share price reacted well following management's announcement to sell one of its core holdings, Westinghouse Electric Company ("Westinghouse"), which became one of the most successful investments for Brookfield. Westinghouse is a service provider to energy producers offering a wide range of products including maintenance, control, and instrumentation services. Brookfield bought Westinghouse out of bankruptcy in 2018, hired a new management team, repositioned the company and invested in new technologies. The investment generated a multiple on invested capital of 6x, corresponding to an IRR of 60%.
