Monthly comment

Global equity markets rose in May, driven by the strong performance of large-cap US technology companies, which was due to investor excitement about the future prospects of Artificial Intelligence. Although the uncertainty over a US government default led to increased volatility, an agreement to raise the debt ceiling was reached days before the deadline. Against this backdrop, the Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Listed Private Equity Fund recorded another strong month and increased in value, outperforming the MSCI world index.

HG Capital, the British private equity firm with a focus on the software sector, was among the best performing holdings in May. The company announced a solid Q1 report, with NAV growth of 4%, that was fueled by robust underlying portfolio performance. Among the top 20 investments, that make up 77% of the overall portfolio, revenues and EBITDA increased by 30% and 27% respectively. The portfolio companies benefitted from the stability of the software-as-a-service business model, their strong market positions and high pricing power. The management team reaffirmed a positive outlook and expects increased acquisition opportunities.

On the other hand, TPG, the US private equity manager, performed weakly. The company published Q1 results and reported an increase of 14% in assets under management year-over-year, but moderated the fundraising target for the current cycle, which disappointed investors. On a positive note, TPG reported the acquisition of a private debt-focused manager, which will expand the company's product platform and add USD 55 billion in assets under management.

Another top performer was 3i Group. The UK based private equity firm recently published its FY23 results and reported a total return of 36% for the full year. This was due to the strong growth of the underlying portfolio companies. The largest holding, Action, a leading European non-food discount retailer, increased revenues and EBITDA by 46% and 30% respectively. Other important components of the portfolio such as the healthcare and infrastructure investments are also performing well. Management remains optimistic about the coming year and proposed a dividend increase of 13%.
