Monthly comment

After a strong rally in the equity markets in the summer, stocks were sold off sharply in September. In the month, we saw a sharp rise in bond yields and sell-off in stocks as markets moved to price in an aggressive path of future rate hikes. Equity market valuation generally fell below its 25-year average P/E. The Partners Group Listed Investments SICAV - Multi Asset Income also suffered in this market trend. The Fund's performance was behind the benchmark, attributable to the interest rate sensitivity of all three asset classes, which was more pronounced in real estate: a spike in yields could increase borrowing costs for REITs, expand cap rates, as well rotate some income investors out to government bonds instead. Meanwhile, floating rate bonds benefited in this environment due to their direct linkage to rates.

More specifically, REITs performed weakly as interest rates stepped up further globally. Mortgage REITs are in particular highly sensitive to interest rate moves due to the impact on net interest income and book value. As a result, Annaly Capital Management reacted negatively to the rising US government yield, which moved from 3.2% to 3.6% throughout the month.

Further, logistics REITs stocks including Prologis and Segro declined more than other REITs due to their valuation, which reflected high growth in the near to medium term, which will be now discounted with a higher rate. Meanwhile, we also note that logistics REITs have enjoyed scarcity of key logistics warehouse spaces globally and rising rents, while keeping occupancy rate very low. Overall, European REITs were down more than US peers, attributable to their higher leverage. Also, a few analysts adjusted down target prices for European REITs between 15-25%, reflecting higher borrowing costs in the UK and Europe after the recent rate hikes.
